artevasi

A detailed terrarium setup is shown against a plain, light-colored wall. The arrangement includes several large, dark green Monstera leaves with characteristic splits, and numerous feathery green ferns. The base of the plants is composed of several large, light-colored, textured rocks. Interspersed among the rocks and at the base are smaller, dense green plants, possibly moss or small ferns. A piece of weathered driftwood lies horizontally in the foreground on the left. The entire scene is set on a light-colored surface. Overlaid on the center of the image is the word "artevəsi" in a large, white, lowercase, sans-serif font.

Terracotta Collection

In 2022, we began our adventure in the terracotta production with the opening of our factory in Boialvo, a small town in the district of Aveiro, to bring to life Artevasi's latest collection: traditional terracotta.

"Artevasi was born from plastic, but in 2022 we returned to our roots, where we rediscovered the heritage of our ancestors, which is our most valuable asset. We carry on my grandparents' legacy while responding to today's market's needs, and the result is the Boialvo factory, the culmination of these desires. We are very excited and looking forward to the company's future, which is becoming the one-stop pot solution." – Rodolfo Resende, CEO

Reinventing tradition

The green path taken by Artevasi has become even greener with this terracotta collection, ensuring the use of pots made of resistant material, 100% natural and environmentally friendly. The factory construction forced us to rethink more sustainable production methods.

Solar panels are the primary source of energy.

Optimized ovens in order to be energy efficient.

We use rainwater to supply the production chain.

Reduced energy consumption by 25%.

Amália

Inspired by the voice of Portugal and Fado, Amália Rodrigues, this range is a hymn to the classic and traditional format, standing out for its adaptability, whether in more modern or traditional environments. With new options of pots and bowls in the Campana lines and new plant boxes and pots for orchids, the Amália range is suitable for indoor use (with a saucer) or outdoor use, enjoying various sizes with a palette of three colours in earth tones. Produced entirely in Portugal from our terracotta factory, this versatile range translates into breathable, environmentally friendly pots with drainage holes.

Saramago

The writer awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1998, José Saramago, lends his genius to this simple, pure, straight-lined range which, combined with its rounded edge, gives rise to genuinely timeless products. Produced entirely in Portugal from our terracotta factory, the Saramago range features versions in pot, cylinder pot and bowl, with a palette of three earth tone colours and various sizes. Suitable for indoor (with a saucer) or outdoor use, this is a frost-resistant, versatile and environmentally friendly solution with a drainage hole.
